the early days

26 0 0

in a certain day in like 8 years ago i was born as i think as some pekin duck i had many siblings and a mom they, all hated me, one day we were going to look for food then i got stuck in a hole and they ignored me for days that felt like 999T Milenia(1000years). One day a robot with a hat saw me in his mask is written something like h20 or something maybe he is called something like water he treated me like an offspring with that clone he made, he named me paulo that is where my name came from, the Apostle Paul. One day his friends decided to take care of me for a while one is handsome with white hair while the other one was bald and some sort of child with glasses the work on something call the oculose enterpices and they had employees like the general guy and some soldiers, a cyclops with his daughter a doctor and a buff guy and some scientists we went to planets like FM UV, Bosque, and the Planet Playground moon, one day they met the former president of the Melon Republic they talked about alliance and funding or something about buisness then the suddenly left me, and i was there lost with no way out this will mark the beginning of my hatred of those abominations

Turning this place into a hellhole

11 0 0

I was lost in this wasteland called planet playground one of them has captured me and was used as some research project like studying an alien creture they also did some tests in me like making me grow a beard and it was like hell and i will take revenge them i found way out of this hellhole i escaped the people treated me like a pest, an alien creature, the pet of the sevil they try to kill me for weeks , months ,and almost a year one day two teenage wormheads found me then they just played me like a soccer ball until i passed out they thought i was dead then they threw me at a lake then i woke up then i came back on land and i forgot what happened then i saw a knife and it was my time to shine baby then i went to a bar and killed a bartbender and two other people and set the place on fire then i killed a young frutians parents then i did many more crimes, one time i stole a pagan talisman and i caused a car accident one time i heard that they were about to make a robot army, then i made a control device thingy just like how i saw the builders making inventions then i tested it and it worked then i was about to test it and it worked, i made control of the robots they make and this will be the start of my glorious empire and i will destroy those stupid fruits. and once i take over this planet i will take over other planets like FM UV 32,Bosque and the 8 other planets including my home just like a certain Austrian painter unifing his home country LONG LIVE THE EMPIRE!!!!!!!!!! and im planning to probobly take over the universe.